GENERAL NEWS.

Henry Ward Beecher Taken Suddenly Ill in Chicago.

TROUBLE ARISEN WITH HALF BREEDS IN MONTANA.

Vanderbilt Defeated in a Railroad Suit in Ohio—Criminal Notes, etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

CHICAGO, March 6.—Henry Ward Beecher lectured to a crowded house at Central music hall to-night. His subject was, "The Moral uses of Luxury and Beauty." He had proceeded in his talk about twenty-five minutes and when he reached the passage about the difficulties of rich men in attaining salvation he began, "There is an impression—." At this point he stopped, hesitated, and appeared to stagger. Some one in the audience, seeing he was about to faint, gave the alarm and he was helped off the stage by a gentleman on the platform. Prof. Swing, who had introduced Mr. Beecher, made a brief announcement that Mr Beecher was suddenly indisposed and moved that he be excused for the evening, a motion that was unanimously concurred in. Medical aid was summoned at once and it was discovered that Mr. Beecher had been weakened by stomach troubles and that his fainting was brought on by the close atmosphere of the crowded hall. He is billed for a lecture at Ottawa to-morrow night and says he will fill the engagement.

Vanderbilt Defeated.

COLUMBUS, O., March 7.—The attorney general to-day secured a verdict in his favor against Vanderbilt in the case of the consolidation of the C. C. C. & I. and C. H. & D. railroads and leased lines. This is a square defeat for Vanderbilt.

The Boston Bank Failure.

BOSTON, March 7.—It is stated that the New England and Exchange national banks held the bulk of Sweet & Co's securities, and the firm wish to put the Massachusetts Central railroad into the hands of a syndicate for completion. It is also stated that a reorganization of the firm will be effected with the retirement of the active members.

An Opportunity for Warfare.

ST. PAUL, March 7.—Gen. Terry has been asked for advice by Commandant Reid of the camp on Poplar river, who reports that Sheriff Healey, of Choteau county, Montana, with a posse went into a camp of half-breeds on Milk river, near Poplar river agency, for the purpose of collecting taxes, and succeeded in getting cash and robes to the amount of about $1000, when the noble rovers made an emphatic kick on what they were pleased to consider Healey's exactions. So they quietly made the sheriff and party prisoners, and now don't know what to do with them. The half-breeds mentioned are really trespassers on American soil, as they came south of the line last fall for the purpose of hunting buffalo, and are known to be largely engaged in smuggling and selling liquor and ammunition to Indians.

Congressional Assistance Asked.

MEMPHIS, March 7.—The following telegram was sent this morning to senators Harrison and Jackson, and congressman Moore at Washington:

The suffering brought to our notice by inhabitants of counties in Tennessee, bordering on the Mississippi, occasioned by the overflow, calls loudly for assistance from the government. What Memphis has done or can do will be inadequate. We urge you to obtain authority to have rations purchased here for immediate distribution in order to save persons from actual starvation. Some three to five thousand persons are in absolute need and must be helped immediately. (Signed) Napoleon Hill, president cotton exchange; D. P. Haddon, president taxing district, and others.

The Situation near Memphis.

MEMPHIS, March 7.—Supplies were sent this afternoon to points on both sides of the river between here and Greenville, Mississippi. Every day brings intelligence of widespread suffering and destitution of people within inundated regions. The levee in front of Helena, Ark., is still intact, but backwater is encroaching upon the business portion of the city. Levees between Vicksburg and Helena are covered with stock in a starving condition. Several rafts with whole families aboard have been seen floating down stream. The situation has become desperate in some localities, and now it is only a question of provisions or early starvation to both human beings and stock.

Water still Rising at Greenville.

NEW ORLEANS, March 7.—The Picayune's Greenville, Miss., special says backwater is still running and is now from six inches to a foot higher than at any previous overflow since the country was first settled. There will be very little land above water from the river front to the hills beyond the Yazoo river. Greenville is secure from any possible overflow. Refugees from overflowed plantations are congregating here, and our resources to feed and shelter them will be severely taxed. Very few plantations have even a strip of land above water. Loss of stock there is almost total. Levees are thronged with negroes and stock, whose condition is most deplorable. As its extent becomes known this calamity begins to appal. A tax sufficient to rebuild the levees would be almost insupportable, but that is only an item. Laborers have lost their stocks and moveables and are in a panic-stricken and demoralized condition. Despondency among planters and merchants is deepening. At first this blow was regarded as a disaster involving losses and hard times. Now it is assuming graver and greater proportions. The most thoughtful as well as the most sanguine look upon it as a disaster greater than has ever before befallen the bottom country. A correspondent does not believe confidence or hope can be restored without national help to rebuild the levees.

Cattle Thieves Killed.

DENVER, March 7.—Republican's special: Thursday, Arnold Howard and Frank Young, charged with cattle stealing, were arrested and placed in jail at Del Norte. Saturday night one hundred mounted men, said to be stockmen from Rio Grande and San Luis valleys, rode down the guards and the jail was broken open. The prisoners attempted to escape, but Young was mortally wounded and Howard killed outright.

A New Agreement Made.

CHICAGO, March 7.—The Chicago and Alton, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and Southern Pacific roads have formed a freight line from Chicago to California. A joint tariff will be established and all will be benefited by the same, and by a contract made by the Central and Union Pacific and northern overland line.

Helena's Distress.

HELENA, ARK., March 7.—The situation to night is alarming in the extreme. The levee broke above the city last night and water is only kept off from the city by a cross levee at Walker street. Merchants are preparing for a general overflow. Reports from below continue of the most distressing character. Two new breaks occurred to-day and much more damage is reported.

Trouble with the Taos Pueblos.

SANTA FE, N. M., March 7.—Governor Sheldon received news from Taos yesterday which, if substantiated, is serious. It is to the effect that four days ago some Taos Pueblos became drunk, and were arrested and placed in jail. They escaped and Deputy Sheriffs Meirs and Martinez started to the Pueblo's town to rearrest them. They and their posse were met by 59 armed Pueblo Indians, and a fight ensued in which Deputy Sheriff Meirs was killed and Deputy Sheriff Martinez mortally wounded. The murderers are not yet captured. The Taos Pueblo is one of the richest and largest in the territory, and heretofore the best feeling has existed between the Pueblos and surrounding Mexican towns. Of late too much whisky traffic has been going on, which the U. S. authorities should stop. Governor Sheldon has sent to Taos for the latest information, and news is hourly expected.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Trouble over Bradlaugh.

LONDON, March 6.—In the house of commons this P.M., Northcote moved that the house reaffirm the resolutions of February 7th, that Bradlaugh be not permitted to go through the form of repeating the words of the oath. Majoribanks, liberal, moved an amendment in favor of legislation permitting affirmation. Labouchere moved, on behalf of Bradlaugh, that if Majoribanks' amendment should be carried he (Bradlaugh) would not go up to the table until legislation was effected, provided the delay was only for a reasonable time. Gladstone supported the amendment as the best means of relieving the house from its increasingly sinful position. Majoribanks' amendment was rejected, 257 against 240. Northcote's motion was carried without division. Majoribanks gave notice that he would ask leave to bring in a bill amending the law relating to the oath.

Skobeloff's Last Speech.

LONDON, March 7.—The German press is indignant at General Skobeloff's speech at Warsaw, in which he flattered the Poles, saying if there was no Russian garrison at Warsaw there would be no German one.

A New Bank to be Formed.

PARIS, March 7.—The Messager says the new bank which it is proposed to form to resuscitate the Union Generale, will have a nominal capital of 50,000,000 francs, and bonds giving the right to share in the profits to be allotted to shareholders and creditors of the Union Generale as partial compensation for their losses.

MEXICO.

Storm in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 7.—A terrible storm visited this city last night causing great consternation among a crowd at a circus. Within five minutes hail stones tore down the canvas and with it the poles and extinguishing the lights. The scene was frightful, as women screamed and fainted, and panic stricken people scrambled for the exits, wading ankle deep through water. Fortunately the casualties were slight, two men only being seriously injured by falling poles. Although many were slightly hurt in the confusion.

Glenluce Wins the Hurdle Race.

LONDON, March 7.—The international hurdle race at Croydon was won by Glenluce, Ancient Pistol second, Theophrastus third. Eight ran, including Walton's Sutler.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 7.

At [illegible] the senate resumed consideration of the Chinese bill. Miller, Farley and Fair sent up to the clerk's desk and had read a great number of telegrams received by them giving accounts of the anti-Chinese mass meetings held throughout the Pacific slope last Saturday.

Dawes then took the floor and began a speech against the bill. Dawes went over the familiar grounds of argument in favor of Chinese immigration and claimed that there is at least as much danger to society and the political institutions of this country from the vicious and idle immigrants of European cities as from Chinese laborers. The settlement of this question in the manner proposed by this measure he said was a surrender of principle in order to make peace at the behests of the disorderly foreign element of that locality.

Jones, of Nevada, interrupting, begged leave to correct Dawes when he assumed that this opposition to the Chinese arose from the overmastering passion of foreign elements there. The elections held in California soon after ratification of the Burlingame treaty, at the time when the state was republican by 20,000 majority, proved conclusively that the people of California were bitterly opposed to the treaty, for the republican candidate for governor, who indorsed the treaty, was defeated by 10,000 votes.

Dawes spoke until 3:45 P. M., and was followed by Edmunds, of Vermont, who defended the principle upon which the bill was based by asserting the right of every nation to exclude non-assimilative and undesirable outsiders.

At the conclusion of Edmunds' remarks Platt, of Connecticut, expressed a desire to make a speech on the bill, but said he was not well enough to speak to-day.

A motion was then made for executive session.

The California senators endeavored to secure an agreement to vote upon the bill at some fixed hour to-morrow, but failing to obtain unanimous consent gave notice that they will ask the senate to sit the bill out to-morrow.

Senate then, at 4:30, went into executive session.

Sherman reported from the finance committee the following original bill: That all certificates of deposit issued under provisions of the act of Feb. 26, 1879, entitled an act to authorize the issue of certificates of deposit in aid of refunding the public debt not presented for conversion into 4 per cent bonds of the acts of July 14, 1870 and January 20, 1871, on or before the first of July next, shall be convertable only into registered bonds of said loans. Provided, however, that the treasurer of the United States may redeem at market rates at any time under such regulation as the secretary of the treasury may prescribe, any outstanding ten dollar refunding certificates with accrued interest to date; presentation of the amount of such redemption to be credited to the sinking fund calendar.

Dawes reported favorably a bill to ratify agreement with Crow Indians for apportionment of the reservation required for use of the Northern Pacific railroad.

George introduced a joint resolution authorizing the secretary of war to use hospital tents to furnish temporary shelter to sufferers by the Mississippi overflow; passed.

Call introduced a resolution asking the president for information whether any representation made by diplomatic representative at Chili that the United States would regard with indifference her consent to dismemberment of Peru by cession of any part of their territory to Chili, under existing circumstances, and whether such statement was made with authority; ordered printed.

House.

House went into committee on the state of the union and Kasson called up the tariff commission bill.

Turner of Kentucky made a speech in denunciation of the present tariff system and as an example of the hardships created by it followed in imagination the day life of a farmer from the hour he put on his flannel shirt taxed 35 per cent. to the moment he covered himself in the evening with a blanket taxed over 100 per cent.; asserting every article he made use of in his agricultural pursuits was heavily taxed for the benefit of manufacturers. He was opposed to a tariff commission, regarding it as merely the continuation of a bad cause. He did not believe congress should delegate its powers. The country had had an electoral commission and was disgusted. At any rate democrats were disgusted. He criticised the rules of the house which put in power a majority of the committee on ways and means to pocket every bill referred to it. The rule that permitted that was not only despotic but damnable.

Valentine again made his point of order that the bill was entitled to no special privileges, as it was not a bill to raise revenue.

There was a very general discussion of the point whether the bill was or was not a revenue measure, and finally the chair delivered his decision, stating, so far as he could find, that there has been no previous ruling on the question. The question which he was called upon to decide was whether the bill was entitled to preference under the rule which gave such preference for raising revenue. This was a bill to instruct a committee to investigate, and this would be noted by the language, as he understood the meaning of bills. For raising revenue, there were bills levying taxes and authorizing duties and imports. The chair therefore sustained the point of order, and ruled that the bill for appointment of a tariff commission had not precedence under the rules to consideration at the present time. Under the decision of the chairman of the committee of the whole, the tariff commission bill must take its regular place on the calendar, where it stands 54 in order.

Among the bills which must be disposed of or laid aside before it is reached, is that providing for permanent constructing funds for the navy, and this measure will probably resist any attempt to have it set aside without consideration, and in view of this fact opponents of the tariff bill may demand yeas and nays upon setting aside every bill that precedes it on the calendar. The prospect of early discussion of the measure is not promising. The ways and means committee can devise some way to obviate the necessity of passing over other measures seriatum.

The agricultural appropriation bill was taken up, Kasson of Iowa stating that he would when its consideration was completed, unless instructed otherwise by the committee on ways and means, attempt to reach the tariff bill by moving to lay aside every bill before it on the calendar.

Aiken of North Carolina after appealing for an appropriation for the encouragement of tea culture in this country, branched off to a discussion of the question of a tariff advocating revising the customs duties and especially the reduction of the duty upon iron.

Dunnell, of Tennessee, inquired whether the democratic caucus had voted not to change the rules.

Turner replied that he did not understand him, and upon suggestion of Atkins sent to the clerk's desk and had read a resolution adopted by the caucus and published.

The committee then rose and the senate bill passed.

An Excellent Wood.

PANAMA, Feb. 26.—The American bark Legal Tender is in port with a cargo of redwood lumber from Eureka, Humboldt county, Cal. There is a good demand for redwood timber of all kinds, as it is very durable, does not shrink, and ants, which destroy almost all varieties of pine lumber, do not touch it.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Judge Blatchford of New York to be Conkling's Successor.

EDMUNDS OFFERED THE PLACE BUT HAS DECLINED.

An Important Decision Regarding the Power of Customs Officers.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Judge Bradley in his opinion in the sugar suit of Walsh against ex-Collector Merritt, of New York, says the real question in the case is whether the dutiable quality is to be decided by their actual color grade by the Dutch standard or by their saccharine strength as ascertained by chemical tests. Defendant in error maintains the former and plaintiff in error the latter. The test prescribed by the statutes is the Dutch standard of color. If congress desired the application of a chemical test why did not congress say so? If congress, as it has done, adopted the color standard, it is not for the customs department to adopt a different one. When congress chooses to do this it will be time enough for the custom house to follow. If the test adopted was to effect the desired object, the inconvenience or loss to the treasury need be only temporary. It can be changed at any moment, and it is better to submit to temporary inconvenience than to set laws afloat by laying down a canon of constructions which leaves plain work or seeks to spell out or guess at the supposed intent of a legislature contrary or supplementary to that which is clearly embodied in the words it has used. If experience shows that congress acted under a mistaken impression, that does not authorize the treasury department or courts to take the part of legislative guardians and by construction make new laws which they imagine congress would have made had it been properly informed, but which congress itself upon being properly informed has not seen fit to make. It may be that our tariff of duties is evaded by superinducing upon sugars in process of manufacture a low grade of color. If this be so it is no more than every manufacturer does, viz., to so manufacture his goods as to avoid the burden of high duties providing they can do it without injuring their market ability, or injuring it less than the duties involved. So long as no deception is practiced, and so long as goods are truly invoiced and freely and honestly exposed to officers of customs for their examination, no fraud is committed and no penalty incurred. All that has to be done is to change the law so as to reach goods in their new form, if it is thought desirable to do so. The decision of the court below was right, and its judgment is affirmed. Justices Matthews and Harlan dissent, on the ground that if a color imparted to sugar artificially, either during process of manufacture or after its completion, is a color which it would not contract by means of any of the processes necessary merely to production of the sugar. It is not its natural and not the real and true color of the Dutch standard.

Discussion of the Chinese Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Discussion of the Chinese bill in the senate was unexpectedly prolonged this afternoon and action upon it prevented to-day by the delivery of two lengthy speeches by Call of Florida and Brown of Georgia, neither of whom had previously intimated any intention to enlighten the senate on this question, but whose example now seems likely to be followed by a number of other senators, with the result of rendering it somewhat doubtful whether a final vote will be reached before Wednesday. Call is a very rambling speaker and it was difficult to determine to-day what position he would finally assume, but as nearly as he could be understood he is willing to vote for the bill because none of the states demand Chinese immigration, but at the same time he thinks some of its provisions, such as those which authorize customs officers to summarily remove Chinese from their districts if not in possession of proper certificates are unconstitutional and should therefore be amended so as to provide for legal proceedings. Brown's speech was a well-framed, adroit and able presentation of the arguments upon which, fallacious as they are, the opposition to the bill will mainly rest. They are fairly indicated in the report, published elsewhere, and they will doubtless be reiterated by other senators on the same side of the question to-morrow. He openly maintained that Chinese diplomats were too shrewd for our commissioners and that as we had allowed them to get the better of us in phrasing the treaty we can now do nothing effectual until we obtain its modification unless we abruptly abrogate it and thus endanger our commercial interests with China, or perhaps bring on a war. Brown gave a glimpse of an actuating motive for his opposition by remarking that Georgia manufacturers of cotton goods, although as yet unable to compete with New England in home markets, have found a profitable market for their special products in China, and they were not inclined to risk discouragement of their profitable business in this direction. Brown also, toward the close of his speech, made a remark about missionary work done among the Chinese in this country by the Baptist denomination, of which he is a prominent member.

Teller, of Colorado, who subsequently made a spirited extemporaneous speech in support of the bill, replied to this remark incidentally and very effectively by calling attention to the microscopic smallness of the results of missionary labor among the Chinese in this country, and by remarking, "Let the senator from Georgia send the gospel to the Chinese, not bring them to it." Teller's brief speech elicited considerable applause from the galleries, and was one of the most refreshing features of the debate.

Slater's remarks, though largely devoted to criticism of defects of the treaty, were earnest in support of the necessity for passing this bill as a measure of at least partial relief.

Dawes will speak to-morrow. It is understood that he will reply especially to a portion of George's speech to-day concerning the Massachusetts sentiment in regard to the colored race.

Pacific coast senators will endeavor to bring the bill to a point of final action before adjournment to-morrow afternoon, but it no longer appears safe to hazard a prediction as to the time when the senate will consent to abstain from additional discussion.

The Democratic Plan of Action.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—House democrats this afternoon caucussed upon a policy to be pursued by democrats relative to the proposed changes in rules. Kenna offered the following.

Resolved, In the judgment of this caucus, amendments to the rules of the house of representatives approved by the majority of the committee on rules are destructive of those just rights and necessary privileges of the minority, which the democratic majority in former congresses never denied republican minorities, and that we will resist their adoption by every parliamentary method at our command.

Resolved further, That we will cheerfully support any amendments to the rules of the house which will tend to promote their improvement in properly facilitating public business, and are not destructive of the rights of the minority and of the people they represent.

After brief discussion the resolutions were unanimously adopted, and caucus adjourned subject to call of the chairman.

The Anti-Chinese Demonstrations.

In the senate at 1:30 the Chinese bill was again taken up, and Miller, of California, called attention to the recent popular demonstrations in California and Nevada in behalf of the bill. He forwarded to the clerk and had read dispatches from mass meetings, the largest, he said, ever held in California, at San Francisco, Stockton, Los Angeles, Santa Cruz, Nevada City, Sonora and various other points, reciting their proceedings and the resolutions they adopted in advocacy of the bill. Farley said he had also received a number of dispatches of similar import from meetings at Sacramento, Oakland and elsewhere. Fair had read a dispatch from the governor of Nevada dated March 4th, stating that mass meetings for restriction then in progress in all prominent towns in the state were unanimously in favor of the bill.

A Profitless Investigation.

Some time ago District Attorney Corkhill, at request of the managers of the Western Union Telegraph office, commenced investigation as to how the dispatch sent by Whitelaw Reid of the Tribune to Col. James Hay in March last became public. Corkhill completed his investigation, and in a letter embodying its results, says the facts presented are not sufficient to justify me in giving any very definite opinion in the matter. The copy was certainly procured through gross violation of faith on the part of some one entrusted with the message, or else stolen from the wires, but I can find nothing in the transaction which would subject parties to punishment under the criminal law of the district.

Committee Matters.

The house committee on foreign affairs has begun investigation, under the Kasson resolution, of the alleged abstraction of state papers from the files of the state department. The only witnesses examined were S. W. Brown, chief clerk, and Harwell, chief of the bureau of records and archives, and the only information elicited was that the papers were received and filed in the usual manner, and were not missed until called for by the resolution of congress, when it was discovered that they had in some way disappeared from the files. The committee will continue the investigation Friday or Saturday.

Conkling's Possible Successor.

The Tribune's Washington special says on Conkling's declination: Another nomination will probably be sent to the senate to-morrow. It can be stated positively that Clarence Seward will not be appointed. It is the universal belief of the president's well informed friends that Judge Blatchford will be chosen.

The Supreme Judgeship.

A press reporter has seen it almost positively that the supreme judgeship was tendered Senator Edmunds, and he declined. A prominent senator says Edmunds would have accepted the appointment if tendered to him first. It is now thought Judge Blatchford, of New York, will be appointed.

Justice Miller Ill.

Justice Miller, of the supreme court, is ill again, indications being that another operation similar to that of a year ago must be performed.

J. W. Stone, recently down from Moose[illegible] pass, says the snow on the mountains was eighteen feet deep when he left the summit. He has driven a tunnel 105 feet, and is positive anthracite coal in large quantities will be found there. He will return with provisions the last of the present month.

It took several men to disarm him, and it was only accomplished after a most desperate struggle.

A POINT FOR EADS.

The Tehuantepec Ship Railway Bill Reported Favorably by the Senate Committee.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, March 7.

Mr. Vest, from the committee on commerce, to-day reported to the senate a bill incorporating an interoceanic ship railroad company, generally known as the Eads' bill, which was accompanied by a report from the committee recommending its passage. The committee state in their report that the first question considered by them was the practicability of constructing a railway for the purpose of transporting ships and their cargoes. Upon this point the committee refer to the testimony and letters of endorsement accompanying the report by a number of gentlemen whom they characterize as the most prominent, able engineers and naval architects in the world. Included in the testimony referred to, as a demonstration of the practicability of the ship railway, is the evidence of Sir Edward Reed Tate, chief of construction of the British navy, who appeared before the committee and gave it the benefit of his views, and letters written by Nathaniel Barnaby, present chief constructor of the British navy, George T. Forsburg Lyster, engineer in charge of the Liverpool docks, Capt. Edward Hart, U. S. N., Constructor General Q. A. Gilmore, United States engineers, Gen. Beauregard and H. D. Whitcomb, civil engineer in charge of works for the improvement of the James river.

Testimony upon this subject, the report says, is so overwhelming and conclusive that the committee had no hesitation in reporting the construction of the ship railway and its successful operation are entirely practicable; but even if there were doubts as to its practicability, the government of the United States could with perfect safety to itself, the report says, pass the bill desired by Capt. Eads, because under the provisions of that bill the government guarantee will not be of any force or effect until the practicability of the project shall have been fully and satisfactorily demonstrated. The next question considered is the best route for a transit way for vessels across the isthmus and their points. The report says that during three sessions of the 46th congress special committees of the house of representatives charged with the duty of considering all questions relating to isthmus transit, after a most full and exhaustive investigation, reported in favor of Eads' ship railway project and selected Tehuantepec as by all means the most preferable route for a transit way. In their report the committee say: Mr. Eads stated the Isthmus of Tehuantepec route and your committee unhesitatingly find and report that of all routes across the isthmus that of Tehuantepec is essentially the best route. A glance at the map will at once demonstrate the correctness of this assertion.

If a vessel leaving the mouth of the Mississippi river bound to California or the Orient, cross the Isthmus at Tehuantepec, her voyage will be 750 miles shorter in distance than if she crossed at Nicaragua, and 1260 miles shorter than if the vessel crossed at Panama. If leaving New York bound for the same destination, she cross the Isthmus of Tehuantepec her voyage will be 700 miles shorter than if she went by Nicaragua, and 1250 miles shorter than if she went by Panama. Inasmuch as this large saving of distance chiefly affects only the commerce of this country and of Mexico and not the commerce of Europe, it must be at once apparent that the locality of a transit way at Tehuantepec is of vital importance to the commercial interests of the United States. Saving of distance is synonymous with cheap transportation, both at Panama and Nicaragua. At various periods throughout the year calms prevail to an extent which would greatly decrease the value of either routes for sailing vessels. Such, however, is not the case at Tehuantepec, as favorable winds always prevail there, thus affording a guarantee of no serious detention to sailing vessels seeking passage by that route. The committee considered the testimony taken before the house committee to fully endorse the statement that Tehuantepec is the American route, and that a transit way should by all means be located there in preference to any other point upon the isthmus. The committee in their report say they do not consider it necessary to go into discussion of the various provisions of the bill. It has been carefully considered, and under it the United States, they think, is amply protected against any ultimate loss by reason of its guarantee, and the government aid provided for is the least which the government could have to give with a view of securing construction and control of the isthmus highway, which in the opinion of the committee is a final solution of the much discussed question of isthmian control. The report concludes as follows: Believing that the commercial interests of this country will be largely benefited by construction of a ship railway, and that it will have a tendency to infuse new life into our now languishing commerce, and that it is essential if our government would retain the respect of its own people and of foreign nations, that it should now practically demonstrate its determination to forever discourage foreign control upon this continent, the committee report back the bill favorably with certain amendments, and with recommendation that it do pass.

ALASKAN NEWS.

Anticipated Trouble with the Indians—Evasion of the Revenue Laws—Mining Notes, Etc.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

PORT TOWNSEND, March 7.—The U. S. revenue cutter Oliver Wolcott, Captain Stodder, arrived yesterday from Alaska, bringing two prisoners, who will be taken to Portland for trial, and the following news.

Upon recommendation of the collector, the department modified the rule concerning alcohol shipments to Alaska. It can now be imported for medicinal purposes, in quantities not exceeding three gallons, upon the written permit of the collector at Sitka.

Col. W. K. Ish, one of the owners of the Karta bay copper mine, died last month at Tongas narrows.

The commission of Mrs. Ella Brow, as postmistress at Sitka, has been received, and the office is now running smoothly. For several months the office had been vacant, hence some irregularities happened.

A case of witchcraft was investigated by the collector on February 13th. As a large number of Indians were implicated and appeared uneasy, at the request of the collector Captain Stodder, of the Wolcott, landed an armed force, which took up quarters at the custom house. This demonstration had the desired effect, and the trial ended without disturbance.

Rumor having reached Sitka that the Indians at Juneau were showing signs of disaffection, by invitation of Captain Stodder, Collector Morris repaired on board the Wolcott on February 15th and proceeded to Juneau to make investigation. The reports were, as usual, greatly exaggerated. The trouble grew out of hoochinoo and a squaw, and was confined to some wandering Hoonahs, which was promptly quited by miners. The Auks, the resident tribe at Juneau, are friendly and assisted the whites in preserving order.

Miners there have formed a military organization, about half of them are armed. They number 150 brave, able-bodied men and are capable of taking care of themselves if properly armed. They have made a requisition upon the secretary of war for a number of army breech-loading rifles.

On the 13th of February an alarm of fire was given from the castle. Capt. Stodder promptly landed a force of men, but it proved to be only a chimney on fire. Unless the government provides suitable fire apparatus, it is only a question of time when all the United States buildings will be burned here, juding from the past.

The Indians have behaved remarkably well since the departure of the Wachusetts and the advent of the Wolcott has been timely, as they might have committed some depredations had she been longer in making her appearance.

N. A. Fuller has driven in a tunnel near Juneau about 90 feet and will make it 100 before beginning to drift. The ore promises well and he feels amply repaid for his outlay.

Sitka Jack, a celebrated Indian chief and friend of the whites, is reported drowned near Chilcat, a portion of his canoe being recovered and he missing for two months.

The collector has recently made some seizures of whisky in kegs shipped in Milwaukee beer cases. A prominent importing and jobbing liquor house in Portland is seriously implicated. The evidence is direct and the case has been reported to Washington for instructions.

A national salute was fired at meridian from the Wolcott on the 22d of February. The ship was gaily dressed, and all flags of the shipping in the harbor were displayed.

The Wolcott has been exercising her crew in shell practice, which had an edifying effect upon the natives.

Two large quartz mills are being constructed at San Francisco for the Takou mines.

The department has changed the name of the postoffice at Harrisburg to Juneau.

The Wolcott left Sitka on the 28th of February at 4 P. M.

SOUTH AMERICA.

An Amicable Settlement Arrived at.

PANAMA, Feb. 26.—Lima dates by yesterday's steamer arrived from the south are to the 16th inst. Novoa, Chilian commissioner in Lima, had received an official telegram from Santiago announcing the close of the conference between Trescott and Balmoreda, Chilian minister of foreign affairs. An amicable and apparently agreeable understanding was arrived at, and the two gentlemen drew up a protocol to be submitted to the Peruvian government to serve as a basis for a treaty between Peru and Chili. The protocol recognizes the Chilian claim to cessation of Tarapaca, but leaves the subject of indemnity in abeyance, or at least does not stipulate for an immediate or early settlement. Trescott has ninety days allowed him in which to submit it to some competent government in Peru. If by that time he has not secured its signature by a government in whose stability Chilians confide, the protocol becomes null and void. Bolivia is said to be waiting the moment when Peru evacuates Tacna and Arica, to take possession of that valuable department, and further dismember Peru. All documents in connection with the Cochet and Landreau claims against the Peruvian government were found among the archives of the palace. They will be published.

Peruvians Defeated.

Chilian troops defeated Peruvians at Pucyra, killed their chief of staff, Col. Tafler, lieutenant colonel, several other officers and 87 soldiers. The Chilians had one officer and 15 men killed.

YAMHILL COUNTY NEWS.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

LAFAYETTE, March 6.

Weather beautiful.

The democratic county county convention will be held here on March 24th.

Circuit court convenes on March 27th.

Already some of our citizens are preparing ground for early spring gardens.

The evangelists arrived here and opened their meetings on last Friday. They are preaching to crowded houses. Up to the present, however, they have made but few converts.

At the school election to-day Hon. A. R. Burbank was elected director and W. L. Bradshaw clerk. A tax of $500 was levied for the purpose of reseating and repairing the school building. It is a much needed improvement and will be hailed with delight by all the children of this district.

A crowded house greeted the Choral Society at their second concert, given last Thursday evening. Quite a number were here from Dayton and McMinnville. The singing throughout was unusually good. Deserving of special mention were the solos, "Who's at my Window?" by Miss Millie Harris; "The Bridge," by Miss Alice Whitlow; "The Clouds are Darkening Northern Skies," by Mr. T. C. Stephens, and "The Soldiers' Chorus," (quintette) by Messrs. Levinson, Stephens, Whitlow, Johnson and Winter.

MINING NOTES.

Jacksonville Times.

The miners have plenty of water at last and are happy.

The miners of Galice creek are all at work and a big yield is expected from that camp this season.

The Squaw Lake Co's ditches are being cleaned and repaired. Piping will be commenced soon.

Piping is now progressing in earnest at the Forty-nine diggings near Phoenix, which are owned by E. K. Anderson.

Gin Lin has about 20 Celestials employed in digging a ditch from Palmer creek to the red hills, several miles distant.

Miners are running on full time in Willow Springs district and increasing their forces. Extra hands are therefore in demand there.

John Marshall, of Coyote creek, has worked off a large area of ground with excellent prospects, as also have Hannum Bros, on upper Grave creek.

D. W. Anderson, James Priddy and others, are now engaged in mining on Farmer's Flat with excellent prospects. They cleaned up about $10 the other day, after having worked but a few hours.

Twenty-five hands are now at work on the Pacific Mining Co's ditch in the Wolf creek district. H. Morse and Mr. Brown, formerly of the St. Charles Hotel at Portland, are superintending operations.

A valuable nickel deposit is said to have been discovered in the vicinity of "Old Piney," a high and rugged mountain just north of Canyonville. A company has been organized to work it and operations will soon be under way.

John Heckman, an employe of the Bay View mill near the mouth of the Duwamish river, while toying with a pistol accidentally discharged the weapon, and shot his friend and fellow-workman, John McGindry, in the lower jaw, inflicting a very serious wound. The ball passed through the jaw into the wounded man's throat and he spit it out.

"Money is the root of all evil." Impure blood is the root of all disease. With a trifle of one root, buy King of the Blood, which contains roots, and root out the other root. See advertisement.

Much serious sickness and suffering might be prevented by promptly correcting those slight derangements that, otherwise, often develop into settled disease. When a cold or other cause checks the operation of the secretive organs, their natural healthy action should be restored, and inflammatory material removed from the system. Ayer's Pills accomplish this quickly, safely and surely.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 8, 1882.

IGNORANT AND FALSE.

In "Two Years in Oregon," just published, Mr. Wallis Nash has attempted to say a great deal about a subject of which he knows very little. The book is an account of his doings, observations and conclusions during two years' residence here, and assumes to be accurate and practical. It is neither. Mr. Nash has seen which the eyes of a foreigner to whom everything seems queer, and has criticised freely without taste and without judgment. Having, in fact, passed over but a small part of Oregon, comparatively, he writes of it all, and with the assumption and authority of personal knowledge. He assumes to speak knowingly and practically of farming, when his own repeated efforts have been managed with ignorance, and in every instance ended by failure. As an instance, he gives on page 45 an analysis of the profits to be made by farming, forgetting the cost and value of stock, putting the product of wheat (as an average figure) at 26 bushel per acre, and its market price at 90 cents per bushel. In a subsequent chapter, in estimating the expense of putting in a crop, he puts the cost of seed wheat at 70 cents; and on the following page the price of the crop to be raised is put at 85 cents. He treats of the profits of land clearing with gross misrepresentation of facts of which he cannot be ignorant. Pages 113-117, inclusive, consist of a tirade against the people who wish to see the Cascade military road contract properly carried out. The motive for this is that parties are making this grant—obtained according to the sworn statements of government inspectors, by falsehood and fraud—the basis of a credit to be used as the basis of another and a greater fraud. But the most gross trait of the book is its misrepresentation of Portland and the Columbia river. Of Portland he says: "To one who has seen real cities, it is but a little place; but some of its twenty-one or twenty-two thousand inhabitants raise claims to greatness and even supremacy that make it difficult to suppress a smile. In thirty-five years the place has grown from a collection of log huts, set down as if by chance, to its present dimensions, and, no doubt, could go on growing as fast as Oregon developed, could the same conditions last. The city consists of half a dozen streets running parralel with the Willamette, and nine or ten at right angles. Front street and First street contain some brick buildings, remarkable for so very young a place; the former backs on the Willamette, and on it front the warehouses and wharves, against the backs of which the ships are moored; the latter contains nearly all the city's stores and shops of any consequence." And this pretends to be a truthful description of Portland, which in another place is spoken of as a "Tom Tiddler's ground of a city," and so on through the book. St. Vincent's hospital—founded by Catholics and conducted by sisters of charity—is set down as having been founded by Bishop Morris, and other statements are of the same character. Mr. Nash quotes from the Astorian and THE OREGONIAN paragraphs about the bar and the Columbia and Willamette rivers, wrenching them from their context, so that their apparent meaning is utterly false. Yaquina bay is landed to a point as far above its deserts as Portland and the lower rivers are degraded below theirs, and the book closes with a "puff" for the Oregon Pacific railroad bubble. The book is utterly unreliable. Its literary defects—it abounds in them—are gratifying in that they expose the shallowness of the writer, and discredit his statements.

RUSSIA AND GERMANY.

Gen. Skobeleff's speech recently made to Servian students and repeated in more decisive form at Paris two weeks ago, is construed by intelligent observers as foreshadowing war almost inevitably between Russia and Germany. The influences leading up to the speech are assumed to have been these: The late czar of Russia, like Peter the Great, was fond of German military and civil officers because of their supposed superiority, and encouraged their employment in Russian service. This exasperated the native Russians, inside and outside of the army, and was one of the reasons of the bitter hatred entertained by the aristocratic classes against the late czar. The present czar, long before his accession to power, shared this jealousy against the Germans, and if the recent speeches of his favorite military leader mean anything, they mean that the military and civil head of the nation proposes to give a practical exhibition of his national prejudices. There is another excellent reason why the speeches above referred to presage war. The life of the czar is perpetually menaced by Russian nihilists. There is only one remedy for this menace, and that is employment for the Russian upper classes who furnish recruits for nihilism, and only one form of employment can be offered them, viz.: war. In the light of these suggestions let the following paragraphs from Skobeleff's speech at Paris, which the slow mails have but just brought us, be considered:

> It seems strange to me that any individual Russian or that our society should display a timidity when we touch on any question near to the Russian heart—a question legitimately arising from our thousand years of historical existence. There are many reasons for this, but I cannot enter into them. The principal one, however, is that lamentable difference which exists between certain sections of Russian society, between the intellectual classes and the Russian people. Gentlemen, whenever the sovereign of the country has called upon the people, that people have risen to the occasion of the historical necessity of the time. It has not always been so with our intellectual classes, and if any one has ever failed to respond to the czar, it has been those intellectual classes. I perfectly understand this. Cosmopolitan Europeanism is not a source of strength, but an indication of weakness. There can be no strength independent of the nation, and the intellectual classes are a power only when in combination with the people.
> My position is an independent one. So long as I am summoned in the time of war I care nothing for the rest. Yes, I did say that Germany is the common enemy, and I repeat it. I believe that safety lies in the union of the Slavs with France. The European balance of power must be re-established or there will soon be only one power—Germany.

When it is remembered how rapidly the first indications of the collision between Russia and Turkey were followed by the Russian declaration of war and the movement of Russian troops, it need not excite surprise if the late oratorical bugle-call of Gen. Skobeleff should be succeeded by decisive action between the two most powerful empires in Europe.

A new method of municipal transportation is about to be tested at Boston. By means of a system of coupons, which will be ultimately sold at the railroad stations, the passenger, upon his arrival in Boston, can take a coupe, especially reserved for him, and be conveyed directly and speedily to any part of the city desired. No attention to his baggage will be required, as that will be attended to by the company, and will follow him at once to his hotel, residence or office, as required. The company is now completing the details of the arrangement, and already has contracted for the construction of several elegant coupes and cabs.

An amicable settlement has been arranged by Commissioner Trescott and the Chilian government, according to our Panama dispatches. Anti-Blaine journals can now rest easy; the danger is passed and the country safe.

UNWISE ECONOMY.

Motives of economy affect congressmen very strangely at times. A fierce spirit of frugality will attack them which threatens to lop off needless expenses right and left, but when the spasm has spent its force it is generally found that some worthy object has suffered. The latest attack of this sort manifested itself in reduction of the appropriation for printing the monthly consular reports to one-third the amount heretofore allowed for that purpose. Now, if there is one production of the government printing office which is worthy the money expended in its publication, it is this. The reports are eagerly read by merchants, shippers and every one interested in the growth of our foreign commerce. A mass of information is contained in each number which can be found nowhere else, while many of the articles are of great interest to the general reader. Above all other considerations, however, is the benefit resulting from their publication to the commercial relations of the United States. The trade of this country with every section of the globe where we have a representative is increased by knowledge of what those people want of our productions and what we need of theirs. The habits, laws and tariff regulations of the inhabitants of every consular station in world may be learned from their pages, thereby giving every shipper or exporter the benefit of that knowledge only to be obtained by personal contact with those people. There are many other publications issued by the government which could be discontinued altogether without loss to the public, but to apply the pruning knife to this appropriation is certainly an exhibition of unwise economy.

General Skobeleff has the faculty of arousing a breeze in Europe whenever he opens his mouth. The storm of indignation over his speech to the students at Paris has hardly subsided when news comes of another one delivered at Warsaw yesterday, in which he said that Russia would station no army of her own at that city, nor would she allow Germany to plant one there. It is evident that Russia is ready to settle old scores with the Teutons, and General Skobeleff's firebrands are certain to land a spark in the continental powder magazine sooner or later.

CITY.

GUILTY OF MURDER.—Ka-tu-tah, the Indian brought here from Alaska not long since, charged with murdering two miners, was on trial in the United States circuit court yesterday. Following is a list of jurymen in the case: George Stevens, William Glass, Thomas J. Blair, E. H. Bellinger, H. F. Kentemyre, William Percival, Jackson Hoover, W. H. Pope, B. S. Hyland, W. J. Humphrey and W. T. Linn. Several witnesses who knew the defendant, were subpœned, and brought from Alaska. The trial continued through the entire day, up to six o'clock, when the jury were charged. They remained out but a short time, and returned a verdict of guilty as charged in the indictment.

FINED FOR FIGHTING.—Charles Turk was yesterday on trial in Justice Davis' court, charged with assault and battery upon an old man named O'Neal. He had his usual number of friends with him to swear that what he did was in self-protection. When on the stand Turk stated that the old gentleman had struck him first, and it was a case of "thump" or be "thumped," and that he chose the former mode of action. However, the judge did not see it in that light, and in a tone sounding remarkably metallic to Turk, said he thought him guilty and would fine him $50. Turk then rejoined, "I'll appeal the case, and don't you forget it."

REPORTED OPPOSITION STEAMSHIP.—A dispatch to THE OREGONIAN from San Francisco last night says: It is currently reported that the ownership of the steam propellor William Taber has been transferred from J. T. Wright to Nicholas Luning. The vessel was built in Baltimore in 1857, and has a registered tonnage of nearly 2000. The engines have a capacity of 1500 horse power. She will be run by Mr. Luning on the route between this city and Portland, in opposition to the line of steamships owned and operated by Henry Villard and for which Goodall, Perkins & Co. are agents.

ANGIUS SENTENCED.—August Angius, who was convicted in the State circuit court of assault with a deadly weapon, made upon Nicolas Arat, was yesterday sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary. The motion for a new trial made by Angius' counsel was denied by Judge Stott. Angius will be taken to Salem to-morrow.

UNFORTUNATE ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning E. B. Gardener, a farmer living a few miles from the city on the Willamette river, had his right eye completely destroyed by a chip from the head of a nail which he was driving, getting into it. Gardner came to this city where Dr. Eston attended him.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—Henry Mace was last night arrested, on a charge of assault and battery made upon Stephen Randall. Randall stated that Mace had beaten him because he testified against Charley Turk in a justice court to-day. Mace furnished $25 for his appearance in court to-day.

ARRAIGNED.—Jacob Webber, who was indicted by the grand jury of the United States circuit court for selling beer in kegs without stamps on them, was yesterday arraigned and entered a plea of not guilty. He will be tried during this term of court.

KELLER'S DOG.—In the case of Holland against Councilman J. S. Keller, in which Holland brings suit to recover damages for injury done his daughter by a vicious dog owned by the defendant, Keller was given until April 1st in which to answer.

FOUND GUILTY.—J. P. Kennard was yesterday tried in Justice Davis' court on a charge of larceny, made by George Reed, found guilty and fined $100. The fine was not paid, in consequence of which he was lodged in the county jail.

OUR NEW DISTRICT ATTORNEY.—Hon. J. F. Watson, who received the appointment of United States district attorney, vice Hon. Rufus Mallory, yesterday morning took the oath of office, and will begin his duties to-day.

THE STEAMERS.—The Oregon arrived in Astoria at 1:30 yesterday afternoon, left at five and arrived here shortly after one. The Columbia arrived down at 12:30 and crossed out half an hour later.

THE TRAGEDY ENDED.

Annie Murray, who shot and killed Henry Prang, died at St. Vincent's hospital yesterday evening at ten minutes to 6. She suffered intensely during the morning, but toward evening became easier and it was thought better. Consciousness remained to the last, and she persisted in her statement that Prang fired the first shot, until life left her. Her mother and brother attended her bedside.

THE O. R. & N. CO.'S TERMINUS.

WORK AT ALBINA TO BE COMMENCED NEXT WEEK.

The Great Depot will be Built in Couch's Lake, if the Council Consents to Close Certain Streets.

This morning engine No. 13 and fifteen cars of the O. R. & N. Co. will be shipped from The Dalles to this city to begin the work of leveling ground for the company's yards and machine shops below Albina. In a few weeks another engine with like number of cars will be forwarded here for the same purpose. The company within the past four months have bought a strip of land facing the river one and one-fourth miles long and from one-third to one-half mile wide. It extends from a point just below the old Nicolai mill to the long wood dock, and from the river to a line about 190 feet east of the county road. This gives the company all the room requisite for passenger and freight depots, elevators, coal docks, machine shops, car sheds and switching yards. The company also own fifteen hundred feet of river front immediately below the Oregon & California depot. The track from The Dalles coming down Sullivan's gulch will swing around the bluff opposite the foot of F street and turn northwards, running east of the O. & C. depot, then close to the river bank as far as the Montgomery slough above Albina. Here it will run northeast for a short distance, crossing the slough, then through Goldsmith street to the company's grounds. Plans and specifications for the buildings above mentioned are now being prepared, and construction will commence within a few days. The elevators, freight warehouses and coal bins will be built on piles, the river side extending into 18 feet of water. A track will run through the line of docks and warehouses, then into the switch yard. The machine shops will be located back of the river, nearly half a mile north of the old Russell residence on the hill. Expenditures for improvements will not be less than $1,000,000, and the time will not be far distant when from a thousand to fifteen hundred men in various capacities will be employed upon these grounds by the company.

THE PASSENGER DEPOT

Is yet a problem. The company own enough grounds in Couch's lake, northwest of the Clarendon hotel, on which to build such a depot as Mr. Villard has proposed, and if the citizens of Portland give consent to closing up such portions of certain streets as may be necessary to carry the magnificent plans of Mr. Villard into effect, this city will have the finest and grandest passenger depot in America. The voice of the people will no doubt soon find an opportunity to express itself, and if no protest is entered within the time specified by law, the council may grant the petition. There is scarcely a doubt that the taxpayers of Portland are unanimous in favor of having the depot on the west side of the Willamette river. The engineers have not decided where the bridge will be located. Half a dozen accessible points present themselves between Weidlers' sawmill and Swan island, and access to the proposed site will not be difficult.

SNAKE RIVER BRIDGE.

The Northern Pacific have let to D. D. McBean the contract for building the piers of the bridge over Snake river, near its mouth. They will be eight in number, and cost $250,000. The terms of the contract require the work to be done by April 1, 1883. Mr. McBean is already on the ground, and has begun operations. Stone is obtained at Granite point, near Wawawai. A fine quarry has been opened near lake Pen d'Oreille, and it is likely that considerable stone will be taken from there. The iron for the draw, which will weigh between 200 and 300 tons, was ordered some time since from the Phœnix iron works, of Phœnixville, Pa., and a good portion is already en route. The entire superstructure will be of the best quality of iron, and constructed in the most substantial manner. It will cost not far from $500,000. As the company has a powerful ferry at this point, the bridge for the present is not a necessity, but it will be finished in time for the first through train from New York.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The O. R. & N. Co. expect to have regular trains running between the Cascades and The Dalles by April 1st. Track laying will be finished by the last of next week, but the roadbed requires to be thoroughly ballasted before traffic is commenced.

The O. R. & N. Co. began this week to run their freight cars to the end of the Northern Pacific's track. Hereafter car load lots, east or west, will go through without breaking bulk.

Traffic was resumed on the East side division of the narrow gauge road yesterday, and the west side will be in operation to-day.

FROM SALEM.

JUDGE BURNETT APPOINTED TO SUCCEED JUDGE WATSON.

The Supreme Court Getting Ready for the March Term—Five Mill School Tax Voted—Personal Notes—Etc.

REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.

SALEM, March 7.

Governor Thayer this morning appointed Hon. John Burnett, of Corvallis, circuit judge of the second judicial district, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Hon. James F. Watson.

The March term of the supreme court convened at 2 o'clock, P. M., on Monday last, but adjourned without transacting any business. The same can be said of this morning's proceedings, the court awaiting the completion of the docket, which will not be closed until this evening. Twenty-two new cases have thus far been docketed, and eight continued from last term. Additional cases will no doubt be filed during the day.

Governor Thayer has appointed John A. Seaman, of Connor Creek, Baker county, as notary public for the ensuing two years.

The annual school meeting of this district, held at Reed's opera house last evening, was very largely attended, showing an increased interest in educational matters. The directors made their estimates for the coming year on a three mill tax basis. After some little discussion a five mill tax was levied, with the understanding that three and one-half mills was to go toward the support of the schools for the ensuing year, and the directors requested to increase the salaries of teachers somewhat, and the remaining 1½ mills to be set aside as a sinking fund, with a view of using it in the erection of a new and commodious central school building. The clerk of the district, J. S. Stephens, Esq., reported but $88 delinquent taxes on last year's levy, which certainly speaks well for his efficiency. Thus far there appears a unanimous desire to secure his re-election. Among the gentlemen spoken of as successor to G. Dickenson, whose time has expired as school director, the names of H. D. Boon, E. M. Waite, W. L. Wade and L. F. Pratt are mentioned. From this list a good selection can easily be made.

Gen. E. Meyer will be a passenger on the outgoing steamer for San Francisco. During his absence he contemplates visiting Sacramento and acquainting himself with the military organization of our sister state, with a view of introducing if possible, some of its superior and advantageous details into the militia service of this state.

The following articles of incorporation have recently been filed in the office of the secretary of state, "The Portland Transfer Company," with a capital stock of $25,000 and J. A. Wetmore, J. W. Souther and L. L. Souther, as incorporators. Also "The Vacuum Motor Machine Company," with head office at Corvallis, a capital stock of $500 with power to increase, and Oswald Seifert, H. W. Vincent, N. B. Avery and F. H. Sawtelle as incorporators.

Multnomah county has recently paid $36,125 into the state treasury as a portion of the state taxes due.

Gov. Thayer is in receipt of an invitation to attend the memorial services of President Garfield. The invitation is a splendid specimen of the engraver's art, and will be framed and hung in the executive department at Salem as a memento of that important event.

Mr. Samuel Beck and bride of your city are visiting Salem, where they are receiving the congratulations of friends and acquaintances.

Carlisle Laughead, formerly of this city but more recently of The Dalles, was married on Sunday last to Miss Florence Elgin, of Aukeny's landing in this county, Rev. J. Taylor Chambers, of St. Paul's Episcopal church officiating.

Col. Reed contemplates the early erection of an addition to his brick hotel and opera house in this city.

Judge Waldo has resumed his seat on the supreme bench after a long and severe illness, the effects of which have left him looking somewhat pale and emaciated.

Joshua J. Walton, Jr., of Eugene City is sojourning in Salem. Hon. G. W. Gray and daughters, Mrs. M. O. Lownsdale and Miss Jennie Gray are expected home to-morrow after a somewhat lengthy visit in southern California.

Mrs. Sam W. Church has gone to San Francisco for a short visit.

W. W. Skinner, Esq., agent for the O. & C. R. R. in this city was taken dangerously ill on Sunday evening and his life was despaired of for a short time. We are pleased to learn that he is improving however.

Gaines Fisher contemplates the erection of a large addition to his livery stable on Commercial street at an early day.

BRIEF MENTION.

Patents have been issued to E. M. White of Elliot, W. T., for a hay wagon, and to Mrs. C. V. Turner of Nicola Valley, B. C., for clasp for corset stiffeners.

The Jefferson-street ferry company repaired their cable yesterday, and the boat will run without interruption to-day.

The branch office of the Western Union Telegraph Co., corner First and Washington, is open from 9 A. M. to 5:30 P. M.

E. O. Suiter, the druggist at Gervais, Marion Co., died yesterday of hemorrhage of the lungs.

There will be a special meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union this afternoon at the Congregational church at 2 P. M.

A class is being formed for a course of lectures to be given by Mrs. Williams, who lectured here last summer. Mrs. Williams is expected here next month.

Jacksonville Times: Horace L. Ish, who has been in Alaska for sometime past, got back during the week. He informs us that the reported death of Wm. K. Ish was only too true. Mr. Ish is of the opinion that his brother's death was the result of unnatural causes, and he will return soon and sift the matter to the bottom. His brother was engaged in a lucrative fishing and trading business, which it is thought tempted the cupidity of certain parties, and caused a desire to have him spirited away. Mr. Ish says that the mineral, fishing and lumber interests of Alaska will in time prove quite extensive, but otherwise the territory is comparatively valueless.

THE GRAND JURY REPORT.

New Market Theater Gallery and Y. M. C. A. Hall Pronounced Unsafe—The Poor Farm comes in for Severe Criticism.

To the honorable judge of the circuit court of the state of Oregon for the county of Multnomah, the grand jury duly impaneled, charged and sworn at and for this term of the above named court, would respectfully beg leave to report.

We have diligently inquired into all offences committed or triable in the county that have come to our notice, and have disposed of them to the best of our ability. Since we have been so impaneled we have examined into a very large number of cases, and have reported a considerable number of true bills of indictment, and have also ignored a great number of charges which have been presented for our consideration.

We have visited and examined the county jail and find it in excellent condition—clean, tidy, and well kept in all respects. Mr. McManus, the jailer, under the direction of the sheriff, gives careful attention to details in the management of the jail, enforcing cleanliness and proper care of all prisoners and cells, so that their health is affected by confinement as little as possible. The prisoners appear as well fed and provided for in other respects as the interests of justice or humanity or a regard for the rights of the taxpayers would justify.

We respectfully approve of the recommendations of Sheriff Burdine in relation to some alterations in the construction of the jail necessitated by the proposed addition to the clerk's office. That addition to the clerk's office will close up the south side of the jail, so as to render that portion unfit for the purposes originally intended. After that portion of the new building is constructed it will be unsafe in the matter of health to confine prisoners on that side, as is now done, on account of the total want of light and air. The sheriff recommends that all the partition walls on the north side of the jail be taken down and the entire floor thrown into one large cell or room, thereby confining the better iron sheeting over the top of the walls, the prison will be rendered secure and its capacity doubled. There is an absolute necessity of increased capacity and we cannot conceive of no way than this enlargement can be more economically made. Or in case these changes are not deemed judicious by the proper authorities, we recommend that the county court proceed immediately to the building of a new jail. We think there should be sewer extension southward from the jail and connecting with the main street sewer, so that an additional water closet could be constructed for the benefit of those confined in the southern portion of the jail.

We visited the poor farm, which, during the necessary absence of the superintendent, R. Cleghorn, is under the supervision of Mr. Murry. The buildings and food are cleanly and healthful, but the management and arrangements of the patients, and the care bestowed upon them meet with our emphatic and unqualified condemnation. In the building now in use there are two wards for the male patients. Out of the twenty male patients now inmates of the hospital, three or four are in a helpless condition, and from the stench and offensiveness arising from their beds and filling the rooms, and indeed the entire building, we conclude that the care bestowed upon them amounts to almost nothing. These patients are not confined in one room, but are injudiciously kept and distributed in the two wards, whereby the health and lives of all are endangered. The only nurses are the meagre and almost worthless help of associate patients and inmates. We think it poor economy in the county to withhold from these unfortunates at least one competent nurse, to keep the bodies of the helpless clean. While at the poor farm we examined the building erected about a year ago at an expense of about $2800, and were surprised to find this building wholly unused and unoccupied. Upon a close inspection, however, we discovered the reason to be that it is not, in its present condition, at all adapted to the purposes for which it was constructed. There are in the lower story of said building about twelve rooms, each adapted to the accommodation of three or four persons, but the twelve rooms are separated by partitions extending only a portion of the way to the ceiling, thus leaving all open and practically connected with each other over a low partition. The result is that to use and warm one room the whole building, up stairs and down, must be equally warmed, and that is supposed to be done by a stove in the center of the hall down stairs. If there should be one or more sick persons in one of these rooms, the whole number inhabiting the building would necessarily be affected by the exhalations by those afflicted with loathsome or contagious diseases, including such maladies as many of the inmates have as the result of their own habits. We estimate that it will cost from $400 to $600 to so arrange the partitions and to put the building in such condition that it will be available, and we recommend that the same shall be done. In regard to the condition of the patients above referred to, we think it only justice to Mr. Cleghorn to express our belief that the objectionable treatment would not exist if he were present and made personal supervision of the institution.

In our examination of the county assessor's office, and in the management and conduct thereof, we find much to commend, especially in the improvement of maps and charts, which are complete, and in the manner of the collection of poll taxes from the Chinese, by which Mr. Sears saves to the county more than his entire salary as assessor by his extra labor and vigilance.

We find the county clerk's office well conducted, the records kept in a neat and concise manner and the laws relating to the same faithfully observed and executed.

In our examination of the lunatic asylum, the city prisons of Portland and East Portland we find them all well conducted and well adapted for the purposes for which they are respectively intended.

At the instance of a large number of the citizens and taxpayers of the city and county we have visited a considerable number of the public buildings of the city with a view to ascertain the probable safety and means of escape in case of fire, and deem it not improper to briefly report the result of our investigations: We visited and examined what is known as the New Market theater, and find the means of rapid exit very imperfect in case of a fire, where the building is occupied by a considerable crowd of people, as is frequently the case. We think the upper portion of the building, known as the gallery, particularly unsafe, and recommend a change in the stairways leading to the same or that the gallery be closed entirely. We believe that the stairways leading to the gallery are so narrow, long and crooked that in case of a fire under the circumstances above stated the consequences would in all probability be disastrous. We visited the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, and find the main room to have a capacity of seating from five to six hundred persons, with but one flight of stairs leading therefrom, and we believe that the safety of the large crowds attending there requires a better means of egress in case of a fire or panic than the one flight of stairs referred to. We also visited the leading church buildings of the city, and find them as well arranged and as well provided with means of rapid egress in case of fire or other casualty as could reasonably be expected.

In view of the probable recurrence to which the position of the city as a seaport renders it peculiarly liable, we respectfully suggest not only as a measure of safety, but of economy, that the city and county authorities co-operate in the construction of a substantial building to be used as a permanent pest house, and would recommend that a location a reasonable distance from the city be selected near some of the numerous stone quarries, and that in the construction of such building the labor of both county and city prisoners be utilized.

Regarding as we do, the vice of gambling as one of the growing and dangerous evils of the city, we have devoted considerable time to the investigation of charges of that character, and in view of the liability of property owners to be used for such purposes, we have requested the district attorney to notify all property owners where gambling has been shown to exist, and after reasonable time to institute proceedings against them in case such practice is allowed by them to be continued.

Having now completed the business before us we respectfully ask to be discharged.

King of the Blood

Is not a "cure-all;" it is a blood-purifier and tonic. Impurity of blood poisons the system, deranges the circulation, and thus induces many disorders, known by different names to distinguish them according to effects, but being really branches or phases of that great generic disorder, Impurity of Blood. Such are Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Constipation, Nervous Disorders, Headache, Backache, General Weakness, Heart Disease, Dropsy, Kidney Disease, Piles, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Disorders, Pimples, Ulcers, Swellings, &c., &c. King of the Blood prevents and cures these by attacking the cause, impurity of the Blood. Chemists and physicians agree in calling it "the most genuine and efficient preparation for the purpose." Sold by Druggists, $1 per bottle. See testimonials, directions, &c., in pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," wrapped around each bottle.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,
The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of Disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHŒA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organizations broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a Distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office—132 and 134 Third St., opposite Masonic Hall. Office Hours—From 10 to 12 A. M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P. M. All letters of professional business must be addressed
